

Additional File 6. Ratio of reference gene expression levels for qPCR.

Gene expression was measured for GAPDH and TATA in typically developing control donors (open symbols) and ASD donors (closed symbols). The ratio of gene expression between the two reference genes were compared for control and ASD subjects for BA24 punch-dissected gray matter tissue samples to ensure that the reference genes had stable expression levels between the groups. No statistically significant difference were observed.